Platform Tube Filter

Built-in surge suppression High surge capability Compact design Effective filtration

Rating: Not Rated Yet
Ask a question about this product

Description

A range of line filters with surge suppression for effective protection against induced lightning transients and mains borne noise. Intended for OEM applications, the Filtertube is a single stud mounting with wire leads on the input and output.

The metalcan units have screw terminations on the input and output and four mounting holes have been provided.

- Built-in surge suppression
- High surge capability
- Compact design
- Effective filtration